Applications for Appalachian Leadership Institute Due June 1!

This is your last chance to apply to join ARC's Appalachian Leadership Institute -- a comprehensive leadership and economic development training program for those who work or live in the Appalachian Region.

As part of the Appalachian Leadership Institute, Fellows will learn directly from economic developers and community leaders about how to design effective development plans, and discover new strategies to strengthen local economies.

More information about this opportunity and how to apply available at www.arc.gov/leadershipinstitute

Also available in June: technical assistance supporting a Department of Labor grant opportunity offering up to $2.5 million to expand existing workforce development initiatives in the Appalachian Region.
